Purpose

The main purpose of this guide is to educate you, the consumer, on a variety of financial information. A financial crisis does not discriminate and it can effect young, old, rich and poor. This guide will give you some of the tools that you will need to plan, prepare, and prevent a financial disaster. We want to provide you with the building blocks that you need to build a strong foundation and secure your financial future. We hope you will have learned the following items by the time you complete this course.

One of the most important areas we will cover is developing a Monthly Budget for you and your family. It is not just putting numbers down on a piece of paper and trying to only spend what you put down. There are a variety of steps to follow to make sure that you are setting up your budget correctly each month, and that you are developing goals to represent what you are working towards.

Another area that will be covered is managing your money instead of letting your money manage you. This will show you how to make sound financial decisions and how to save money for your financial goals, whether you are retiring early or just being able to make the house payment each month.

Using credit correctly is also a fundamental part of money management. We will explore different options that you have in the credit realm, along with alternatives to credit.

You also need to know who to turn to if you need help. We also provide you with references and referrals to a variety of organizations that can provide you with additional help, everything from consumer protection to investing options.

The Effectiveness of the Pre-test and Final Test

By taking the Pre-test and Final Test you will see how much you can achieve. By educating yourself on financial issues, you will prevent any future financial hardships from hurting yourself and your family. COMPLETE THE INCLUDED CREDITOR DEBT FORM TO CHECK YOUR TOTAL BALANCE ON UNSECURED TYPE DEBT. (page 26)

CHAPTER 2 - Setting Up a Family Budget

When you are setting up a Family Budget, this means you will plan how much money your family will spend and save over a period of time. This includes, but is not limited to, housing, transportation, food, insurance, clothing, utilities, healthcare, childcare, entertainment, contributions, etc.

You ask why is a budget important? A budget is an important tool for managing your family's money. It also keeps you in control of your spending, instead of letting your spending control how you live. It will also help you plan how to get the most out of your money - now and in the future. Your planning today can make tomorrow easier.

Preparation for setting up a budget will include the following:

1 - Set goals: Make a list of the things that are important to your family. This will help you to determine what to do with your money now and in the future.

A - Immediate Goals: Things you and your family cannot do without. Food, utilities, clothes, health-care, rent/mortgage, etc.

B - Short Term Goals: Things you and your family need or want in the near future. Appliances, home computer, family cell phone plan, car, home repairs, sports tuitions, etc.

C - Long Term Goals: Things that you need to start saving for by making them a part of your everyday budget. Down payment for a house, retirement fund, college for kids, cash for vacation, etc.

2 - Be realistic about those things that you really want and can afford.

3 - Take a look at your financial health.

A - How much do you own? Try to come up with a current value of everything that the family owns (assets). The most common assets are a home, vehicles, household goods/furnishings, money in checking/savings/cash on hand and any retirement plans with value

ASSETS $ _____

B - How much do you owe? Try to come up with the total amount owed which would include credit cards, secured or unsecured loans, any unpaid bills, etc.

DEBTS $ _____
SUBTRACT DEBTS FROM ASSETS $ _____

-If your assets are more than your debts - you are off to a good start towards financial freedom.

-If your debts are more than your assets - you need to plan a way to pay your debts gradually. You need to make a realistic plan for repaying them which might include a Debt Management Plan for your unsecured debts.

CHAPTER 2 - Setting Up a Family Budget

4 - Let's take a look at your total family income.

This will include all sources of income from the following:

A - Salary/wages

1. Gross income- This is the amount that you earn from your employer without any deductions (taxes, insurance, etc.) subtracted from it. This amount can be found on your pay stub.
2. Net income- This is the amount that you actually take home on pay day or the actual pay check amount. If you get paid weekly, you can multiply your take home pay by 4.3 to come up with a monthly figure. If you get paid semi-monthly, multiply it by 2.

B - Food stamps, Supplemental Security Income (SSI), Social Security benefits, child support or alimony, pension, rent, second job, etc.

C - Interest or dividends from bank accounts or investments.

TOTAL INCOME $ _____

5 - What are your total expenses? You will need to review prior bills, receipts, cancelled checks, etc., or keep a "spending diary" to record all of your family's spending for a month or two.

A - Fixed expenses, which are the same each month, might include the following:

rent/mortgage, insurance, car payments, loan payments, property taxes

B - Variable expenses, which may be different each month, might include the following:

food, clothing, transportation, heat, gas/electricity, water, phone, medical, entertainment, recreation, furniture/appliances, personal

C- Periodic expenses, which are due a few times each year, could include the following:

homeowner's or renter's insurance, car insurance, certain types of taxes, or some forms of utility bill payments

6 - You need to look at your goals and compare them to your expenses and income. If your fixed and variable expenses are less than your total income, you should consider starting a regular savings plan. Your savings can be set aside for emergency expenses. Once you have an emergency fund, you can save toward your short and long term goals.

7 - Everyone needs to establish some type of a savings account to plan for emergencies or achieve their financial goals, so that you or your family does not have to rely on credit to get through the rough times. It also feels great to be able to pay with cash or write a check for a large item that you have worked hard to save for, instead of filling out paperwork to try and get financing or worrying if the purchase will put you over your credit limit on your credit card. The types of savings accounts could be: Interest bearing account, Christmas Club or Vacation fund account, CD, IRA, 401k, etc. Talk to your bank or credit union about the different types that they offer.

If your income isn't large enough, consider the following: look for cheaper rent/mortgage, find a roommate, take on a part-time job, upgrade job skills to increase income. If these aren't options, contact your local social service agency and check other community resources.

CHAPTER 3 - Tips for Making a Budget

Tips for making a working budget

- Be flexible - do not set them in stone, continue to adjust as needed.
- Involve everyone - riding a bike or walking instead of taking the car can add up to important savings in the long run.
- Use your charge cards wisely - make sure you are able to make monthly payments or payoff completely.
- Shop carefully - compare prices, do you need it, how long will it last, can you wait to buy it on sale.
- Save on energy - ask your state energy office or local utility about energy saving tips.
- Stay organized - review your checkbook regularly, track small purchases with note pad on your cell phone, review budget and other receipts regularly.
- Pay bills on time - late payments mean penalties and interest charges.
- Use check reconciliation sheets to make sure your accounts are balanced. (See example on pg. 24)

Always use a pencil when doing your budget. That way you can easily make changes and correct errors. People who make too many errors in pen may get discouraged or frustrated and may quit using a budget.

Or you can ditch the pencil and paper all together and use your computer to help you keep track. There are plenty of online resources that will help you create and keep track of a monthly budget. For those of you with “smart phones” that have internet access, search for phone apps that you can download on your phone that will help you track your spending on the go.

This will lead to a joint family affair. You will need to decide how the money will be spent, who will be the one paying the bills, and who will be doing the record keeping. There should be only one record keeper. This decision should be based on who can do the job best. If more than one person is keeping records, confusion usually results, not to mention the problems this creates between the partners.

You will need to pay all your bills at a certain time of each month. Choose once a month to do this or at most twice a month. You may need to request your creditors to change their billing dates so they will coincide with the bill paying dates you’ve selected.

You shouldn’t have to spend more than two hours per month writing checks if that’s the method you use to pay your bills. (Money orders and cashier’s checks are different and will take more time depending on how many creditors you are paying.). Setting up bills on automatic payment is the best way to ensure you don’t forget a payment. They can coincide with pay-days and there may be benefits if you sign up for automatic payments. Contact your bank and creditors for steps on how to get set up. If you are not comfortable with automatic bill pay you can still go online to pay many of your bills by setting up a username and password for each account.

Make sure that when all of your money has been spent from a budget category, you stop spending. Remember when your payments are due you need to have the money available. You may have to hold some money from one pay period to the next in order to pay these bills. Failure to do this is a common mistake.

Don’t be alarmed if your budget doesn’t work out perfectly all the time. You may have some unexpected expenses such as a large car repair bill. Here’s where that savings can come to your rescue. If you don’t have money in savings to draw from, you need to reduce spending on entertainment, phone expenses, or other areas in your budget. Make these adjustments and go from there.

Don’t give up; continue to stick to your budget.

CHAPTER 4 - Shopping Guide & Budget Help

FOOD

1. It will help to plan your shopping list in advance, and only stick to what's on your list.
2. Look for economy cuts of meats or package deals (they are usually cheaper).
3. Watch out for convenience foods such as frozen foods, mixes, etc. Although they are easier, they are more expensive than cooking from scratch.
4. Always check prices on housewares, hardware, or toiletries in a grocery store, as they can be higher.
5. Use coupons. Cut them out when you see them and have them in a file so they are ready when you go shopping. Use the internet to find coupons that fit the items you want to buy.
6. Do not go to the grocery store hungry. You will always spend more.
7. Try to do your grocery shopping several times a month. This will help you spend less.

CLOTHING

1. Look for sales and only buy it if you really need it. A bargain is not a bargain if you won't use it or need it.
2. Look for bargains in thrift shops, discount stores, and department stores. They have excellent sales and clearance racks have some of the best deals. Just because they are known as the more expensive stores, don't eliminate them.
3. Look for off-season sales. Buying next years winter wardrobe in the spring can save you a ton. Just make sure to anticipate the correct size, which can be difficult with growing children.

FUEL & ELECTRIC

1. Storm windows or insulating glass usually will cut half the heat that is needlessly lost through your windows. If you don't want the expense of storm windows, use clear plastic on the inside or outside of your windows.
2. Insulated drapes or curtains will save heat in winter.
3. Install weather stripping and caulk the frames of windows and doors.
4. Check your insulation. Make sure you have the adequate amount to accommodate the area you live in. Good insulation also helps with the air-conditioning.
5. For best results with your heating, find a comfortable setting on your thermostat and leave it there during the day. Raising it just results in higher heating bills.
6. Use ceiling fans to circulate warm and cool air. Most fans have settings that allow a fan to work clockwise or counter-clockwise. Clockwise in the winter and Counter-clockwise in the summer.
7. Dress for the weather, even indoors. Dress warm in the winter with sweaters and blankets and shorts and shirts in the summer. This will help you from having to go to the thermostat too often.
8. Install a programmable thermostat so you can set it to adjust temperatures when you are not in the home.

CAR INSURANCE

1. Shop around. Companies charge substantially different premiums for the same risk.
2. Look for safe driver plans or plans that monitor driving and reward smart driving.
3. Your deductible plays an important part in the cost of premiums. Having a higher deductible results in a lower premium. However, this could be risky since auto body repair bills can be costly. If you have some savings and have an older vehicle, this could be the way to go.
4. Bundle your car insurance with other insurance plans to receive a bulk discount.

CHAPTER 4 - Shopping Guide & Budget Help

CONSOLIDATION LOANS

A consolidation loan helps to regroup your debt; it will not get you out of debt. It can reduce your monthly payments so you have time to get your budget in balance and remove some of the financial pressure. If you have used this type of loan before this may be a sure sign of money mismanagement. Never borrow for non-interest bearing accounts like doctors, dentists, etc. This just starts interest accruing. Refinancing, consolidation loans, and more borrowing are not always solutions, but “symptom” treatments. The key to financial freedom comes with discipline and sacrifice.

CREDIT CARDS

1. Look for credit cards with no annual fees and low interest rates.
2. If you are taking cash advances you are paying higher interest rates.
3. Trouble may be ahead if you need to use credit cards for such items as groceries, toiletries, etc.
4. The biggest dangers facing credit users are misuse and overuse. This results in committing your future income to cover current borrowing.
5. Pay at least the minimum amount due each month, but it is smart to pay more than the minimum to avoid extra interest and payoff your balance faster.
6. Credit cards can be beneficial to your credit if used and then paid off at the end of the month, avoiding a balance that carries over from month to month.
7. Find a card that offers cash back rewards, or points that you can earn for items or travel. Don't choose a card based solely on rewards though. No fees or interest should be first priority.

Other Ways to Supplement Money and Alternatives to Borrowing for Unanticipated Events

INCREASE YOUR INCOME BY

1. Using a budget.
2. Working extra hours.
3. Changing jobs.
4. Working another job. (Spouse may work inside of the home, daycare, etc.)
5. Having a garage or yard sale.
6. Selling items online through Craigslist or Ebay.

DECREASE YOUR SPENDING BY

1. Using a budget to monitor spending.
2. Reducing your involvement in clubs/organizations.
3. Limiting telephone use. Use the phone during discount times.
4. Unsubscribing to cable television.
5. Buying items on sale or at clearance.
6. Only buying items that you need.
7. Postponing purchases or repairs that can wait.
8. Trading goods and services that you possess for something you need.

CHAPTER 5 - Money Management Help

Types of Debt

There are 2 Basic Types of Debt: Unsecured debt – Loans that don't require assets. Your word secures the funds. Ex – signature loans, credit cards. Secured debt – Loans backed by property or assets that you own. Ex- Car or home.

- Secured items are also known as collateral. If you don't pay the payments, they can repossess your home or car.
- Lenders usually base borrowing on your earning power, past credit history, debts, credit card limits.
- Usually creditors rely on the 28/36 rule. 28% of your income should be spent on home expenses, 36% on borrowing.
- If you are unable to borrow based on your own credit history, you can use a co-signer to back the loan. That basically says that if you don't repay it, the co-signer will.
- If you have trouble repaying a debt, it's your responsibility to take action and solve the problem by working to repay the debt. Understanding what caused the problem can help you to change your spending habits.

Borrowing Money

- There is smart borrowing and bad borrowing. {Proverbs 22:7 says, "The rich rules over the poor, and the borrower becomes the lender's slave."}
- Smart borrowing is used for items that are too large to save for – home, car, and education.
- Bad borrowing could be borrowing money to bail someone else out of financial hardship, vacation, buying clothes. You may have big problems later if you don't use debt wisely now. {Timothy 6:10 says, "For the love of money is a root of all kinds of evil. Some people, eager for money, have wandered from the faith and pierced themselves with many griefs."}
- Remember, if it sounds too good to be true, it probably is. Businesses that advertise, 90 days, same as cash, or No payments, No interest for 1 year, etc., are not all they are cracked up to be. It is true that there won't be any interest for a certain period of time, but if you do not pay off the loan in that amount of time, interest will not only start accruing, usually at 25% or higher, but they will also add all the interest charges they would have charged you for the time that you had to pay it off before the expiration date.

Loans

- Always shop around for good interest rates. These will vary from place to place and will also depend on your credit.
- Best place to start are banks or credit unions that you already have accounts at. You have already built some type of history with them.
- Credit Unions are usually more flexible in repaying because they are member owned.
- When you do obtain a loan, keep all copies of loan documents that they give you. Financial institutions are by law required to give you a full disclosure of all fees and charges associated with the loan.
- Most important thing to remember, always read all agreements or contracts before signing.

Car Loans

- When financing a vehicle purchase, the car becomes the collateral on the loan. If you stop making payments, they can repossess the car.

Car Loans Continued...

- Loans are usually made by banks, credit unions, or car dealers. Loans are usually for 3-5 years. Make sure you read the fine print of the loan. Charges can vary from place to place. How long is the term? Are there additional fees? Is there a penalty fee if I pay off the loan early?
- The better your credit rating, the lower your interest will be.
- New cars are not really a good deal. The minute you drive them off the lot, they lose thousands in value. Used cars are a better deal. Have a mechanic you trust inspect the vehicle before you purchase it.
- When purchasing a car, shop around. Prices vary with dealers. Also shop for the financing.
- Do your homework. Once you decide on a car, check out its safety rating, different features, etc.
- Before you buy, make sure you do a checklist of your needs and wants in a car. Does the car you picked qualify? Will it fit your needs?
- Watch for balloon financing – lower payments but one large one at the end.
- Decide on how much you want to spend before you go shopping. Checking out the financing first will also give you an idea of the monthly payments so you know how much you can spend. Make sure you account for all the costs associated with the vehicle including gas mileage and maintenance.
- Leasing – basically you are renting a car. Any damage is your responsibility to pay for. You could also be charged additional fees if you go over the pre set mileage limit the contract states.

Mortgage Loans

- Used to purchase a home. It is part of the smart borrowing.
- Interest is tax deductible – but shop for the lowest rates.
- Things you will need for the Mortgage application – Social Security Number, copy of the contract of sale, survey of the property, list of what you own and owe, verification of income, account numbers and addresses of financial institutions that you carry accounts at, tax returns for the last 2 years.
- Mortgage Brokers – people who help find the best rates for a fee. Good credit, they usually charge you about 2%, bad credit, they may charge up to 10%.

- Different types of loans – 3 of the most popular.

Conventional Mortgage – A 20% down payment is preferable. Remaining amount is financed at a fixed interest rate for the next 15 to 30 years. Monthly payments are usually smaller.

Adjustable Rate Mortgage – Features a varying rate of interest that is usually tied to the government prime rate or one year treasury bills. Usually interest rate changes once per year. This could cause payments to go up or down. It will be hard to set a budget with this type of loan.

VA and FHA Mortgages – Usually lend you more of the amount and put less of a down payment on the home. VA loans – have to be a veteran to qualify. FHA loans also have strict guidelines for the property that you want to purchase.

- Many other types of financing are also available that varies from state to state. Best thing to do is to talk to a few different lenders to see what is available for your situation. First time home buyers also have different programs available. Realtors can usually help point you in the right direction as well as a HUD Approved Housing Counselor.

CHAPTER 5 - Money Management Help

Rent to own

- Directed at people facing financial hardship. You rent the item until it's paid for.
- 2 problems – Items purchased are expensive. Sometimes you pay 3 times the cash price of the item. Interest rates can be over 200%. If you miss even one payment, the item can be repossessed. A better option is to save the money to purchase the item.

Credit Cards

- Credit Cards allow you to borrow up to a certain limit. You pay the money back in monthly payments or all at once, but you need to at least make the minimum monthly payment to avoid fees.
- Credit cards can be of general use, Visa, MasterCard, or can be for certain stores, Target, JCPenney, Sears.
- Store credit cards usually charge higher interest so it's better to have a general card to use at the stores versus a bunch of store-issued cards.
- Biggest problem with credit cards is their convenience. You can charge too much and not be able to make the minimum payments.
- Credit Control – before you charge, ask yourself, “How are you going to pay it back?” “Is the item essential to your well-being?” Someone once said that when you use a credit card, you are committing future income on something you probably won't have or be using when you actually earn enough to pay it back.
- If you do have a high interest credit card, it's a good idea to roll the balance over to a lower introductory rate card, but be careful to read the terms of the rate.

Obtaining Credit

Credit Applications

- Asks for personal information, occupation and income, previous employers, accounts, and debts.
- Be honest on applications, the information will be checked.
- Don't hide credit problems. You have a better chance by explaining them before they are seen on a credit report.
- Things lenders look for – How long at residence and job, owning a home, savings accounts, low debt, and good credit references.

3 C's of Obtaining Credit

- Character – Do you pay your bills on time?
- Capacity – What is your ability to pay back the loan?
- Collateral – What is the security to back up the loan?
- Obtain credit in your name to establish a history. It takes credit to get credit. No credit can be as bad as bad credit.
- If you are not able to obtain a loan by yourself, see if a co-signer can help. Remember, they are responsible if you don't pay.
- Open a credit card with a small limit. Make a small purchase and pay the money back based on the monthly payment schedule. This will show a good payment history for you. Do the same thing with a small loan.
- Secured credit cards are also a good way to build credit. You deposit an amount of money into an account, the Credit Card Company sets your limit at that or maybe a little above. If you don't pay it back, they take the money deposited.

Debt to Income Ratio

- The debt to income ratio is another way to assess the state of your finances and can help determine if you are over extended on debt. This is a ratio that compares your monthly debt payments relative to your monthly net income.
- To calculate take the Total Monthly Debt Payment amount and divide by total Monthly net Income and that equals your Debt to Income ratio. Generally we like to see a debt to income ratio well below 20%, usually 0-5%.
- Advantages to a low debt to income ratio: appeals to new creditors, financial stability, builds savings. Disadvantages with a high debt to income ratio: very little money for savings and increases chances for financial problems. Recommend that this is reviewed periodically to make sure the ratio does not get too high to handle all other debts.

Credit Bureau Reports

- Three major credit reporting agencies – TransUnion, Equifax, and Experian.
- They organize and distribute credit history to lenders.
- Reports include personal information, name, address history, employment history, social security number, and date of birth. Next are any public records of judgments, liens, garnishments, or bankruptcies. Then credit history of accounts which includes the creditor name, type of account, credit limit, terms of each account, account numbers, balances, payment history, payment amount, and past due amounts. Next is a list of lenders that have requested a copy of your report and a list of the lender's names, phone numbers, and addresses that have reported information on the report.
- Prices range from $15 to $20 for a report, but if you have been denied credit in the last 60 days, you can obtain one for free. Just keep your denial letter.
- Everyone is allowed to obtain a free Credit Bureau Report from each of the three reporting agencies every 12 months by calling 1-877-322-8228 or online at www.annualcreditreport.com.
- Monitor reports yearly for any errors or fraud. Report immediately to the credit bureau if any are found.

FICO Score

- Creditors use your score to evaluate whether or not you are a credit risk.
- Also used to determine what your credit limits and interest rates will be.
- Scores are based on: payment history (35%), amount that you owe (30%), account history (15%), types of credit used (10%), and new credit (10%).
- It takes time to improve credit scores. The more time goes by, the less impact a negative item will have on your score.
- Scores range between 300-850. Below 620 is the higher risk and higher interest rate market.
- You can obtain your score from the 3 major credit bureaus or from FICO directly.

CHAPTER 5 - Money Management Help

VantageScore

- New credit score that debut in 2006 and is being used by the 3 major credit bureaus.
- Similar to Fico but assigns a letter grade to score ranges and a slightly different scoring model
- Scores are based on: payment history (32%), credit utilization (23%), credit balances (15%), depth of credit (13%), recent credit (10%), and available credit (7%).
- Scores range between 501-990.

A: 990-901

B: 900-801

C: 800-701

D: 700-601

F: 600-501

Rental Information

- Landlords usually will look at credit reports to decide if they want to rent to you or not. They are looking for collection accounts, past due utility bills, etc. Most large landlords do this. Most small ones do not. They will have to disclose to you ahead of time if they are going to do this.
- Remember, not only will the landlord probably ask for the deposit and first month's rent up front, but there will usually be connection costs for your utility hookups too. If you have had no credit or bad credit with utility companies before, they may require a higher deposit. Try staying with landlords that already have the utilities in their name, and include the bills with your rent.
- If you run into a bad financial situation, and can no longer afford the rent that you pay, try moving to a less expensive home. It's better to leave when you are able to and have time, than be evicted.
- If you have to break the lease, the landlord can charge you rent until the home is re-rented, but watch to make sure he is making a good faith effort to make this happen as quickly as possible.
- If you sign a lease, read it very carefully. Make sure you get a copy of it so you can reference it later to see when rent payments are due, what fees are charged if it is late, and what the terms of the lease are. Some will tell you how much advance notice you have to give before moving out. Most month to month leases are 30 days.
- Make sure you get everything in writing with the landlord. If there are any damages to the home when you move in, make sure you notate those, take pictures, and even better, show the landlord the damage before you move everything in and have him notate the damage on the lease so you don't have to pay for the repairs when you move out.
- When you leave the home, make sure you clean it completely so that you can get your deposit back.

CHAPTER 7 - Tips for Dealing with Creditors

When dealing with creditors DO THE FOLLOWING!

- Promise only what you can send and then send what you promised.
- Call your creditor if you will be late or have to miss a payment.
- Call them first - do not wait for them to call you.
- Give your creditors a truthful explanation of why you will be late and you may want to say “I really need your help with this”.

When dealing with creditors DO NOT DO THE FOLLOWING!

- Do not promise the creditor a payment and then not send it.
- Do not promise a payment just to get them “off your back”.
- Do not give lame excuses for not paying or being late.
- Do not be rude, swear, or holler at the creditor (no matter how they treat you).

CHAPTER 7, PART II - Planning, Preparing, & Managing Your Financial Future

Pre-retirement planning means you need to take the time now to prepare for your future. For most people, the future of retirement includes: financial security, housing needs, leisure time, emotional well-being, health and fitness, and legal needs.

You need to plan now! Many people fail to plan and assume they have plenty of time, or they assume that Social Security will provide the income they need.

If you are one of those who fail to plan, you will find that your retirement years are less than “golden.”

You can make your retirement a success if you plan now. The earlier you begin, the better off you will be.

- 1- When should you start? Everyone should start now, no matter what your age!
  - A - If your 5 to 15 years from retirement, it is not too late. Answer these two questions; When do you want to retire? How much money will you need? Most experts agree that you will need 60-75% of your current income.
  - B - If you have just started a career, you need to consider the following: You will need more money for retirement than a worker who retires today, more of the money will come from you, and you are the only one responsible for your future.

Planning, Preparing, & Managing Your Financial Future

2 - Use these 4 steps in planning your future:

- A - Set goals - think about your retirement and what kind of activities you will want to enjoy.
- B - Get information - educate yourself about the financial issues. Read information, talk to retired people and share ideas with friends.
- C - Get advice - ask a professional about money management, health, leisure, housing, and legal affairs.
- D - Write down a plan - make a list of things you need to do.

3 - What will you live on when you retire? Look at the following options:

- A - Social Security - do you qualify? How much can you expect?
- B - Company plans - how do they work? Understand your pension plan, if applicable, obtain statements from your employer.
- C - An IRA - how do your earnings grow? You can start to withdraw at age 59 1/2 .
- D - Investments - You should plan to invest some money. Consider stocks, bonds, or real estate. Ask reliable experts such as Certified Financial Planners, Accredited Financial Counselors.
- E - Life insurance - These policies will have cash value and the money can be used for income purposes.

Wills

What will I need a Will for?

- A Will tells the state court what to do with your property and your children when you die. It is a legal document and can be typed, handwritten, or oral, although, handwritten and oral Wills are not valid in all states. Check with your state to be sure which applies.
- 4 things in which you should identify in your Will:
  1. Name an Executor, or a person to whom will be responsible for carrying out the terms of your Will after your death.
  2. List all of your property which you want to distribute and to which family members, friends, or organizations.
  3. List your beneficiaries, as these are the individuals and organizations that will receive your property.
  4. If you have minor children, you will need to choose a guardian which will care for your children.
- After you have put together a basic Will, you will need to consult with an attorney to make sure it agrees with all of the laws in your home state. You will need witnesses to witness your Will, the number will depend on your home state. Once you have completed your Will, keep it in a safe place with other important documents such as birth certificates or marriage certificates.

YOUR FUTURE BEGINS TODAY SO PLAN TO HAVE A SUCCESSFUL RETIREMENT!

Insurance

Insurance is needed for many things in your life. It can prevent you from a financial hardship when having to deal with your life's events. With all types of insurance it is important to shop around and find a specific policy that suits your needs. It is also important that you update any coverage you have and review your policies yearly.

Automobile Insurance – Everyone that has a valid driver's license and operates a motor vehicle is required by law to have automobile insurance. Automobile insurance does not only protect your vehicle, it covers the costs of bodily injury to yourself or others, lost wages due to injury, any lawsuits resulting from an accident, vehicle repairs to your car or other vehicles involved in an accident, and benefits to survivors if there was a death in result of an accident.

Automobile insurance rates are determined by certain factors. These could include:

Gender - Rates are less for younger women than for younger men.

Age - Rates are higher for drivers under 25 years old.

Type of vehicle - New and nicer vehicle will have a higher rate.

Driving record - Cleaner records result in lower rates.

Where you live - Rates are higher for urban areas than in rural areas.

How much you drive - The more miles you drive, the higher the chance you can be in an accident.

Most drivers are required to have the minimum of liability coverage. Some people who have older vehicles may not want to pay for full coverage, since the value of their vehicle is not worth the monthly premium. Many choose to have full coverage for their vehicle. This covers your car if it is damaged, stolen, or totaled.

Health Insurance – It is important that everyone has health insurance. The cost of medical care continues to rise and in the event that you or a family member have an accident or require long term care, insurance can save you from a financial burden that many can never recover from.

There are generally two types of health insurance. There are reimbursement plans that allow you to choose your own doctors and pays for your expenses under a specified contract. Then there are managed care plans that provide broader coverage, but through a network of health care providers that have certain arrangements with an insurer. Some examples would be an HMO (health maintenance organization) or a PPO (preferred provider organization).

Many employers provide health insurance coverage for employees and their families. This coverage will pay a significant amount for hospital or doctor bills. You may be required to meet a deductible before insurance goes into affect. A deductible is the amount you'll have to pay toward your medical expenses before the insurance company begins to pay claims.

If your employer does not supply an adequate plan that fits you or your family's needs, it is important to check into a policy with an outside company. A good policy will include coverage on prescription drugs, mental health benefits, maternity care, vision, and dental care. Some policies include one free visit a year under the plan before you have to meet a deductible.

Insurance ctd.

Life Insurance – A financial safety net for your family in the event of your death. If anyone depends on your income as a means of support it is important that you get a life insurance policy. These are the two more popular policies that people choose from.

Whole-life: Provides protection with a cash value incentive. Though more expensive, the premiums stay at a fixed rate throughout the contract. The policy will build up cash value, which you can use while you are still alive. However, borrowing from your policy will lower the death benefits.

Term: Least expensive coverage that is for a fixed period of time (usually one to 30 years) and can be renewed. Your beneficiary gets a fixed amount of money if you die during the term of the policy. Premiums will generally rise with your age.

To consider how much life insurance coverage you should have, you need to figure out some important costs. You will need enough coverage to cover any final expenses including hospital care, funeral charges, taxes, and attorney costs. Then consider any outstanding debt you owe like car loans, credit cards, student loans, etc. Include your mortgage, monthly expenses (utilities, food, entertainment, clothing, childcare, etc.), and college tuition for any of your children. Consider how long you want to provide this coverage for your dependents and you should come up with a figure of how much coverage you would need. Your health and lifestyle can affect the costs of your life insurance policy. If you use tobacco, are overweight, or have a poor medical history you will have higher premiums for your life insurance.

Homeowner's/Renter's Insurance – This is one of the most inexpensive types of insurance and just as important as the others. Most homeowners are required to pay the insurance and it can be included in their monthly mortgage payment. However not everyone that rents is required to get renter's insurance. A landlord has coverage that protects his buildings, but not what's inside them, and if you were the cause of an accident you could be held responsible for damages. Renter's insurance will protect your things and you in the case of stolen or damaged property or if someone gets hurt in your residence. Accidents happen all the time and it is certainly worth the cost to be covered.

Here are some annual average costs for renter's insurance

Coverage	Cost (approx. per year)
$10,000	$150
$20,000	$250
$30,000	$350

Disability Insurance - Missing a significant amount of work due to an illness or injury can make paying routine bills a nightmare. Disability insurance will replace a portion of the lost income and make it easier to keep up with your bills. There are two types of coverage.

Short-term: This covers the early part of when you miss work from an illness or injury. Many employee benefit packages include short-term disability coverage.

Long-term: This covers lost income for longer periods of time. Some employers provide long term insurance but most people have to purchase it individually.

Planning, Preparing, & Managing Your Financial Future - ctd.

One Million Dollars

How long does it take to accumulate $1,000,000?

The answer depends on three things:

- How many years are available to accumulate the funds
- The after-tax rate of return, and
- The method of contribution: one lump sum or monthly contributions

The table below shows how long it takes to accumulate $1,000,000 under varying circumstances. The results shown are hypothetical.

Annual Rate of Return (after-taxes)

Years	Annual Rate 6%		Annual Rate: 8%		Annual Rate 10%		Annual Rate 12%
	Lump Sum	Monthly	Lump Sum	Monthly	Lump Sum	Monthly	Lump Sum	Monthly
5	$747,258	$14,391	$680,583	$13,709	$620,291	$13,709	$567,427	$12,447
10	$558,395	$6,155	$463,193	$5,552	$385,543	$5,003	$321,973	$4,506
15	$417,265	$3,485	$315,242	$2,962	$239,392	$2,510	$182,696	$2,121
20	$311,805	$2,205	$214,548	$1,757	$148,644	$1,392	$103,667	$1,097
25	$232,999	$1,479	$146,018	$1,100	$92,296	$811	$58,823	$593
30	$174,110	$1,026	$99,377	$710	$57,309	$485	$33,378	$328
35	$130,105	$728	$67,635	$467	$35,584	$294	$18,940	$183
40	$97,222	$524	$46,031	$310	$22,095	$180	$10,747	$103

Example: If you were to contribute $1,757 per month to an investment which returns 8% after taxes, you should accumulate $1,000,000 in 20 years. Likewise, if you currently have $214,548 invested at 8% (after taxes) for 20 years, it will grow to $1,000,000 without any additional contribution.

The Rule of 72 and the Rule of 115

How long will it take to double or triple your investment?

The “Rule of 72” is a handy mathematical rule which helps in estimating approximately how many years it will take for an investment to double in value at a specified rate of return.

For example, at a 1% rate of return, an investment will double in approximately 72 years; at a 10% rate of return it will take only 7.2 years, etc.

The “Rule of 115” is a similar rule that allows one to estimate how long it will take an investment to triple.

Rate of Return	1%	2%	3%	4%	5%	6%	7%	8%	9%	10%	11%
Years to Double	72	36	24	18	14.4	12	10.3	9	8	7.2	6.5
Years to Triple	115	57.5	38.3	28.8	23	19.2	16.4	14.4	12.8	11.5	10.5
Rate of Return	12%	13%	14%	15%	16%	17%	18%	19%	20%	21%	22%
Years to Double	6	5.5	5.1	4.8	4.5	4.2	4	3.8	3.6	3.4	3.3
Years to Triple	9.6	8.8	8.2	7.7	7.2	6.8	6.4	6.1	5.8	5.5	5.2

For example, at 1% rate of return, an investment will triple in approximately 115 years; at a 10% rate of return it will take only 11.5 years, etc.

Glossary

Account - This means an agreement between a consumer and a credit company. An account can either be like an installment loan (with a closed-end) or a department store type revolving credit card (with an open-end).

Account Number - This number identifies you to your credit company.

Amount - This is the original amount of a loan for any credit account you may have set up.

Amount Enclosed - This is the amount of payment that you send with your payment stub to a creditor.

Annual Percentage Rate (APR) - This is the interest rate charged on an account which is on an annual basis. In order to determine the monthly interest, you can divide the APR by 12 (example: APR=18% of $1,000 balance. The monthly % is 1.5% = $15).

Available Credit - This is the unused dollar amount of a person's credit limit. On credit cards, it is the difference between the original credit given and the outstanding balance you currently have.

Balance - This is the outstanding amount owed on any credit account.

Charge-off - This happens when a creditor cannot collect a debt and the debt is written off as a bad debt to reflect on their account receivable books.

Charge-back - This is when a merchant reverses a credit card transaction in order to pay back the cardholder of the original amount charged.

Co-signer - This is another person whom enters into a loan agreement with you and guarantees the monthly payments will be made. If you do not follow through with payments, this person will be responsible.

Credit Limit - This is the maximum amount on a credit card in which you are able to charge.

Current - An account is considered current when you have a history of making your monthly payments on time.

Delinquent (same as "Default") - When you do not make your payment based on the agreed terms with your credit grantor. Your account is considered delinquent after 30 days and will be reported on your credit report.

Finance charge - This is the cost in which you pay in exchange for a creditor that lends you money on credit in order to purchase items. The outstanding balance and the interest rate charged is what will determine the finance charge. These finance charges will appear on your monthly statement you receive from your creditor.

Judgment - This is an award which is granted by the courts to a creditor trying to collect on a bad debt. This forces an individual to pay the amount in full prior to removing this from their credit report.

Lien - If you fail to pay on a debt you owe, a creditor can obtain a court order to place a lien against any property you own. This property could not be sold without paying the creditor first.

NSF Charge - If your checking account did not have sufficient funds (money) at the time a check was written for services. When this happens, your bank will charge you an NSF fee.

Past Due Amount - This amount reflects on your statement from a creditor as to any amount that has been missed previously.

Revolving - This is an account in which the outstanding balance can fluctuate depending on the usage of the card. Most revolving accounts will charge a service fee each month if the balance is not paid in full.

Signature Loan - This is a loan that a credit grantor will give you without having to put up any property or collateral. This is also known as an "unsecured debt".
